During the off-season, volunteers and staff line up the programs, tackle maintenance projects and attend a multitude of organizational meetings to keep abreast of what's happening in our area and beyond. The Iron County Museum is a tourist destination as well as the keeper of our county's history going back 125 years.

"We are grateful to the businesses and organizations that lend their financial support through an annual membership," a spokesman said. "The tax deductible museum membership in turn supports each business or organization by our in-house marketing referrals.

"Business and organization member names are posted right up front near the registration desk for all visitors to see. We gladly share directions to local establishments as a courtesy to those know the importance of the museum in Iron County.

"Watch for the business and organizational membership mailings. Choose the level of support that will fit your business budget: benefactor, $150; patron, $50; or supporter, $25. Individual and family membership rates are available."
